

"The idea was not simply to have "people come and explain something", but that there should be a bit of experimentation, a bit of manipulation, not just speeches and explanations. We have children from disadvantaged neighborhoods who need something concrete."